

On AirmenDK you may find a lot more details. There are photos of every gravestone and every monument to Allied airmen, and a number of personal accounts. So far I have worked with AirmenDK for 10 years, but it will be a lifelong project. There is always more to do. And then the National Museum of Denmark will preserve AirmenDK with public access to the website. Fortunately there was never a war for me to take part in, but then I can do my part to keep the memory of Allied airmen alive.

NB: The committee and members were delighted to meet Anders at our recent reunion and were very impressed with his enthusiasm and dedication in preserving the memories of those allied Airmen who gave their lives for our freedom particularly those from 77 Squadron.

77 Squadron wishes Anders every success in his research for AirmenDK and his continuing efforts to keep their memories alive
