

Sergeant Glyn Jones 2209509, Flight Engineer

Glyn Jones

On AirmenDK

Updated: 14 JAN 2020

Airman: a096042.htm Surname: Jones Init: G Rank: Sgt Service: RAF Sqdn: 77

P_link: p305.htm Plane: HAL LW270 Operation: Minelaying Crash_site: Near Hjelm

Crash_d: d240444 Buried_d: b300444 C_link: c096.htm At_Next: Svinø

 At 23:50 on 23 April 1944 HAL LW270 crashed into a field near Hjelm, which is here. This plane was to lay mines off Rostock, about here.

"114 RAF bombers carried out minelaying operations in the Baltic Sea, and 4 Halifaxes and 1 Stirling were lost, mostly due to German night fighters. LW270 was attacked west of Naskov (about here) by a Me110 from 10./NJG3 based in Westerland, Sylt (here). The plane caught fire and Sergeant (Mid Upper Gunner) W.H. Loverock was severely injured on his first sortie. All 7 crew members bailed out over the northeastern part of Lolland and the northern part of Guldborgsund (the area around this point).

Sergeant (Flight Engineer) G. Jones's parachute did not deploy and he was found killed in a gravel pit near Sørup on Falster (about here)."
(FT 86-92-27 - FT= Flyvehistorisk Tidsskrift – (Danish) Aviation Historical Review)

Sergeant (Flight Engineer) Glyn Jones, 32, was the son of Thomas and Jane Jones, of Llanfairfechan, Caernarvonshire, United Kingdom. (Source: CWGC)

Personal inscription on <https://www.airmen.dk/a096042.htm>

Eu henwau'n perarogli sydd a'u hun. Mor dawel yw. /
Their names are fragrant still and their slumber is so peaceful
(Translated by Philip Barnett)

Halifax * Halifax - BC Museum.Canada * Halifax - RAF Museum
Halifax - The Yorkshire Air Museum * Halifax Mk III at YAM, 23 photos
Halifax Print and Halifax - Bless 'Em All * 77 Squadron Association

Halifax II LW270 KN-P took off from RAF Elvington at 21.05 hrs on 23 APR 1944.
(Source: Aircrew Remembered has this.) Google Map 77 Squadron DK

77 Squadron LINKS

7 airmen.